ux / ui / product

I live in the SF Bay Area. Previous employers and clients include Microsoft, Amazon, University of Kansas, and UC Berkeley.

About me ...

Brian Carter

I’m experienced in designing for human needs and business opportunity.

I enjoy thinking about systems and outcomes while delivering designs that are feasible, desired, and viable. I also enjoy craft and collaboration.

For my next role, I'm looking for a diverse team wanting a human-centered approach.

48

The Principles

Carbon is Open

It's a distributed effort, guided by the principles of the open-source movement. Carbon's users are also it's makers, and everyone is encouraged to contribute.

32

Carbon is Modular

Carbon's modularity ensures maximum flexibility in execution. It's components are designed to work seamlessly with each other, in whichever combination suits the needs of the user.

32

Carbon is Consistent

Based on the comprehensive IBM Design Language, every element and component of Carbon was designed from the ground up to ensure consistent experiences.

Hi Brian,

Here are a few photos and notes from my trip to Maui. The first three photos are from the beachfront condo we stayed in, and the last one is from Kahekili Highway. It's a one lane road, in many places on the side of a cliff, around Maui's northwest coast. It is the only road to Kahakuloa Village, where you can usually find a smoothie bus. Along the way there are some amazing views.

Ok, I'll go through my files :) The trail elevation doesn't change much, and you can use the path along the cliff if it gets hot. I should have a few brochures, too.

Justin Harrison 8/10/14 Actions
To: Brian Carter, Anna Gonzalez

Hi! Having a look at your notes would be great! How difficult is the petroglyph trail? I'm also thinking about Monument Valley. It's something I've always wanted to do, and we'll be in the area. I'm so excited!

Brian Carter 8/10/14 Actions
To: Justin Harrison, Anna Gonzalez

Hi! Would you like to have a look at my notes from my trip to Mesa Verde, Grand Canyon, and Arches National Parks? The Mesa Verde petroglyphs are accessible via 2.5 mile cliffside trail from the Spruce Tree House. At the Grand Canyon, We camped at the Mather Campground on the South Rim in the village.
